LOUISVILLE, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1904.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

LABOR DAY.

Imposing Celebration Promised On Monday, When Local Unions Will Turn Out.

There Will Be 10,000 in the Procession and a Big Crowd at Phoenix Hill Park.

Ex-Congressman Howard, of Alabama, Will Be the Orator, But Others Will Speak.

A GALA DAY FOR THE WORKINGMEN

Monday next is Labor day, a legal holiday in Kentucky. All the banks and public buildings will be closed and the manufacturing and workshop will shut down in order to give their employees a chance to participate in the parade or in the speaking and celebration at Phoenix Hill Park during the afternoon and evening. It is expected that there will be fully 10,000 men in line, if all the unions turn out as they have promised to do. Preparations for the event have been going on for several weeks under the auspices of the Louisville Federation of Labor.

The parade will form on Jefferson street, east of Eighth street, at 2 o'clock. The line of march will be east on Jefferson to Fifth, north to Market, east to Third, south to Jefferson, east to First, north to Market, east to Jackson, south to Jefferson, east to Baxter avenue and thence to Phoenix Hill. The principal address at the park will be delivered by former Congressman Howard, of Alabama. Ed. F. Gould, of Indianapolis, will also speak. Invitations have been extended to Mayor Grainger and the city officials to be present.

John M. Stephens will be chief marshal of the day and he has appointed the following aides: Charles Dabney, of the Cigarmakers' Union; Louis Muthler, of the Coopers' Union; George Gravis, of the Brewery Workers' Union, and William Tierney, of the Tobacco Workers' Union. William Sweeney, of the Plumbers' Union, will act as marshal of the First division; Charles Sella, of the Bricklayers' Union, marshal of the Second division; Joseph Stomonsky, of the Garment Cutters' Union, marshal of the Third division; George Peters, of the Salesmen's Union, marshal of the Fourth division.

Marshal Stephens informed a representative of this paper Wednesday evening that forty of the local unions had signified their intention of participating in the parade, and that favorable reports were expected from a number of others. It is thought that only one large union, the printers, will be missing when the procession moves.

MACKIN COUNCIL

Thanks Her Delegates, Barry Council and Kentucky Irish American.

Mackin Council held a rousing and enthusiastic meeting Monday night at St. Cecilia's Hall, with President James Shelley presiding and all the chairs filled. The reports of Delegates Frank Murphy, Frank Adams and Fred Herp were received with much interest. They were proud of the showing made by Mackin Council in the Bluegrass capital and pleased with the ball and banquet, neither of which could well be surpassed. The report detailed fully the work of the convention, which had already met with the approval of the membership of the entire jurisdiction. Speaking for the delegation, Frank Murphy told of the hospitality of Barry Council and the people of Lexington, and stated that the delegates would not have felt right in leaving that beautiful city without electing John B. Shannon, who had done so much for the Y. M. I. Messrs. Murphy, Herp and Adams also commended the Kentucky Irish American for its enterprise and the full and complete report published.

Dr. A. R. Bizo, who had been unable to be present for some time past, was received with much enthusiasm, and his happy speech put all in the best of humor, which was made more marked by the words of President Shelley, of Mackin, and President John Crotty and Will McDonough, of Satolli Council, who were welcome visitors. Without dissent thanks were tendered Barry Council and the people of Lexington for their hospitality to the Grand Council and members of Mackin, to Delegates Murphy, Herp and Adams for the able and conservative manner in which they discharged the duties imposed upon them, and also to the Kentucky Irish American for its interest in the Y. M. I.

For the Ways and Means Committee, who are supervising the erection of the new club house, Will Kerberg reported satisfactory progress. The roof is now being put on, and the new house will probably be opened with a great banquet some time in October. Frank Burke and Ben Sand stated that they had secured fifty tables for euchre to be held this winter, when the lady friends of the council will arrange and conduct a series of games. Charles Brown and Wesley Adams were reported improving and Secretary Dan Weber received quite an amount of money for the relief fund. The editor of the Kentucky Irish American was present and congratulated Mackin Council's members on the brotherly spirit and success that marked the work of this great Catholic society, which was now erecting a lasting monument to their memory on Twenty-sixth street, and setting an example that all others might well follow.

REV. EDWARD BOES

Receives Hearty Welcome From People of Pewee Valley.

The Rev. Edward Boes, formerly of St. Vincent's, Union county, but recently assigned by Bishop McCloskey to St. Aloysius' church at Pewee Valley, was greeted by an exceedingly large congregation last Sunday when he entered upon the duties of his new charge. Father Boes preached an able and eloquent sermon that was much appreciated, as many of the congregation came to him after mass to pay their respects and express the feelings his words had aroused.

Father Boes appears delighted with his new charge, and his many Louisville friends will also be pleased to know that he is stationed so near them. The reverend gentleman announced that services would be held in St. Aloysius' on the first and third Sundays of the month. The rest of the month will be devoted to other missions and stations under his charge. For some time past Father Boes has not enjoyed the best of health, but it is believed that in his new field his restoration will be complete. The people of Pewee Valley will find him a kind pastor and an untiring worker.

HEROIC SISTER.

Sacrifices Her Life to Save Patient She Had Been Nursing.

The heroism and self-sacrifice of the Catholic Sisters of Charity is again forcibly brought before the public by dispatches in the daily press, this time from Springfield, Mass. The dread story is that Sister Gohn, of the Little Francis Sisters of the Sacred Heart, was burned to death Tuesday while trying to save her patient, Mrs. Fred Passino. An oil stove exploded in the Passino home, where the Sister had been acting as a nurse. Instead of saving herself she ran to the aid of the sick woman. The fire department rescued Mrs. Passino and her baby, but Sister Gohn was dead when her body was found. She came to Springfield eleven months ago from France. The foregoing is only one of frequent similar instances which have won for these holy women the admiration and love of all brave and self-respecting men, without regard to creed or nationality.

WELCOMED HOME.

Col. M. Muldoon Spent Vacation in Mountains of North Carolina.

Col. M. Muldoon has returned to Louisville from a delightful vacation spent with his daughter, Mrs. Hilliard, in Tryon, N. C. Col. Muldoon spent most of his time climbing mountains, and returned much invigorated, though the high altitude brought on a slight attack of rheumatism, from which he is now recovering. Col. Muldoon's friends cordially welcomed him home. Newspaper row was lonesome without his genial presence. Although Col. Muldoon is old in years, he still belongs to the younger set and seems to be good for at least twenty-five more years. He has returned to his home in the Highlands. Col. Muldoon's daughters, Misses Anita and Hannah Muldoon, who have been in Italy and Switzerland for nearly a year, will return to Louisville early this fall.

BACK FROM FAIR.

Rev. Father William Gausepohl, rector of St. Mary Magdalen's, returned last Saturday from a week spent at the World's Fair. Father Gausepohl was delighted with all he saw, especially the Irish exhibit, which seems the center of attraction. The fair, he says, surpasses all expectations and is an education in itself. All who can possibly do so should visit St. Louis and view the wonders there, which are greater than those of all former exhibitions combined. The opportunity offered by the Catholic Knights is one that the people of this city should not overlook.

TAKE A REST.

Many ladies who have been prominent in the management and work of the Catholic Women's Club have been resting from their labors for the past two weeks. A number have been absent from the city and others indisposed, but the work of preparing for the fall and winter has been pushed and is now completed. With the return of Mrs. Matt O'Doherty, Mrs. Marcus Doerhoefer, Mrs. D. B. Mattingly, Miss Rose Quinn and others, the club will be in many respects better than ever prepared to carry on its good work and if possible give its numerous patrons more satisfactory service.

IRISH LEADERS

Given a Hearty Welcome and Encouragement in New York.

United League Declares Allegiance to Cause of Irish Freedom.

All Parts of Country Represented at the Great Convention.

NO CHANGE IN REPRESENTATION.

More than 900 delegates from all parts of the country attended the second annual convention of the United Irish League of America in New York this week. Col. John P. Finnerty, of Chicago, president, Jeremiah O'Connor, of Elmira, was elected Temporary Chairman and read an address. After short speeches by Bourke Cockran, Acting Mayor of New York; Patrick Ford, of the Irish World, and John E. Redmond, the Irish leader, the convention got down to business and elected John P. Finnerty Permanent Chairman and John O'Callaghan Secretary.

John E. Redmond, the leader of the Irish party in the House of Commons; Capt. Donnellan, of East Cork, and Patrick O'Brien, of Killeney City, addressed a large meeting in Carnegie Hall on Sunday night. Bourke Cockran and other prominent Irish-Americans were present and delivered addresses. John Redmond said he had come here hoping to be able to raise $50,000 for the Irish cause.

He said that he came to this country to explain what had been accomplished through the assistance obtained here two years ago and to ask for further help. He said that the money given at that time had brought about the passage of the land act in the British Parliament and Ireland had reason to be proud of the result.

"But that," he added, "is only a means to obtaining home rule. Nothing will satisfy us but self-government. The great Unionist party in England is doomed, and the Irish control the voting balance in 100 constituencies in Great Britain and will demand home rule from the candidates there at the next general election. Then we will have the balance of power in the British Parliament, and a home rule bill will pass. We must have financial aid from America to take advantage of the opportunity. I don't think I ask too much in requesting the people of this country to give us a campaign fund of $50,000 between now and the time of the general election."

When Bourke Cockran appealed to the people to assist the struggling Irish members of Parliament a man in the audience cried out: "Why don't you assist them, Cockran?"

"I will assist them in the way that will help the cause the most, and that is by going down in my pocket." And he then gave $500.

At the convention of the United Irish League of America Wednesday there was no official programme for the proceedings, but most of the morning session was taken up by the reports of the various committees, which were appointed Tuesday, and the Secretary's report. Secretary John O'Callaghan read a resolution adopted at a meeting of Slavic-American citizens in the city Tuesday night, expressing sympathy for the Irish people in their struggle for self-government, and wishing that their efforts may be crowned with success in the near future. Letters of regret were read from President Roosevelt, Judge Parker, Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Ryan.

There was a warm debate over the question of increasing the national committee from fifty to one hundred members. John P. Ryan, of Philadelphia, speaking for the Pennsylvania delegation, argued that New York should not have any more representation on the National Committee than any other State. He said the New York branch of the League had not contributed as much to the common fund as it ought to have done, considering its size, there being more Irishmen in New York than in the city of Dublin. He said that New York should not have two representatives on the Executive Committee, as desired, when Boston and other cities had given more to the fund than New York had. He declared that such a proceeding would be unfair to those other cities.

Delegate O'Connor, of Elmira, strenuously resented Ryan's attack upon the Irishmen of New York State, declaring it to be unjust. Col. Sullivan, of Louisiana, made a plea for increasing the National Committee to one hundred, insisting that the South had no proper representation in the Executive Committee of the League. During the discussion the convention was in an uproar, and it was some time before Chairman Finnerty was able to restore order. Roderick J. Kennedy, of New York, said that the New York State branches have done all in their power to help the cause of the League and that of Ireland. The amendment that the Executive Committee be increased from fifty to one hundred was defeated by four votes. Those voting against it numbered 134 and those for it 130. This closed the stormy scene.

SUPREME DIRECTOR BARRY.
How the New Haven Editor Will Look at the Young Men's Institute Convention at Colorado Springs.

The platform adopted by the convention, after renewing the pledge of the league's allegiance to the cause of Irish national independence and endorsing the right of Ireland to have a Parliament of her own, says:

"We assert the right of the Irish people to procure their independence by any honorable method, by work or by word, by voice or sword, as circumstances may dictate or opportunities may offer, but we fully admit their right to choose their weapons to the battle for liberty, untrammelled by dictation from any outside source, realizing that the people on the firing line of the fight for nationhood are the best judges of the policy to be adopted in their struggle with the wealth and power of England."

The convention recognizes the "incalculable services rendered by John E. Redmond, William O'Brien, Michael Davitt, T. P. O'Connor, Edward Lake and their able colleagues, services which no material value can represent or recompense," and earnestly appeals to Irishmen in America to sustain them in their struggle, with a generosity worthy of the glorious renown of the Irish race and of the cause to which they are unalterably devoted.

A member of the Committee of Ways and Means read a report from the committee in which it was stated that it is the intention to raise $50,000 before the first of next year for the general election fund, to be used in England and Ireland.

Michael J. Curry, the New York member of the committee, told the convention that New York will contribute $10,000 toward the fund. Chairman Finnerty announced that Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, had promised to give $1,000 to the fund.

Judged from the press reports the convention was a success and will realize the hopes of its promoters and the delegates from Ireland.

HAPPY UNION.

Thursday morning at 6 o'clock the marriage vows were said at St. Anthony's church, and Bernard A. Coll, one of Jeffersonville's most widely known and substantial citizens, and Mrs. Christina Anderson, a woman of many splendid endowments and loved by all who know her, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, the Rev. Camillus Eichenlaub officiating. The wedding at the church was simple, yet in its simplicity there was a beauty that abode far out and above the ordinary events. Charles Coll, brother of the bridegroom, and Clarence Frank, brother of the bride, were the attendants, only relatives and members of the families of the contracting parties witnessing the ceremony, which it was desired to have quiet and without display. The bridegroom is now serving his second term as Treasurer of Clark county, and is one of the most popular men in Indiana, having long been prominent in business and politics. Barney Coll, as his friends like to call him, is a Hibernian, a Knight of Columbus, a member of the Catholic Knights, the Elks and other fraternal societies. His bride is a daughter of Mrs. George Frank, of Jeffersonville, and is a charming and accomplished lady, prominent in society circles and a general favorite with all classes. After a wedding breakfast the couple left on a two weeks' honeymoon trip to St. Louis, Chicago and Milwaukee, and on their return will occupy a handsome new home on Chestnut street, Jeffersonville.

BAZAR ON KNOBS.

Father Hildebrand, pastor of St. Mary's of the Knobs, just back of New Albany, and the people of his little congregation are arranging for a fair and bazar to be given some time in the early fall. The proceeds will go to the fund to build a new church, which is the ambition of the pious and zealous rector. It has been suggested that the fair continue a week and that special evenings be assigned the Y. M. I., C. K. of A. and other Catholic societies, with change of programme each night.

CATHOLIC

Knights of America Meet in Newport in State Convention September 6.

Important Session and a Big Crowd Is Expected by the Newport Branch.

Arrangements Nearly Completed for the Knights' Excursion to St. Louis.

ORDER IS FLOURISHING IN KENTUCKY

The Catholic Knights of America of Kentucky will meet in Newport on September 6, and the attendance promises to be larger than ever before. This is the twelfth biennial session of the order in this State and it will be opened under very favorable auspices. During the year some gains have been made, and the outlook for the future is encouraging, more especially since the Supreme Council has recently placed the organization in a way to be on a sound financial basis.

The Catholic Knights of America are strong in Louisville and deserve to be, as they have done an immense amount of good for the cause of clarity and religion. Much of this success is due to the intelligent work of the Central Committee, of which Newton G. Rogers is Chairman and Albert F. Martin is Secretary. Mr. Martin is an aspirant for the position of State Secretary and if he is elected he will fill the position with credit to himself and the order. Two other good workers for the order in Louisville are Michael Reichert and Joseph P. McGinn, the former being the Supreme Delegate at the last convention in St. Louis and the latter is Supreme Trustee. Both of these gentlemen performed their work at St. Louis with ability, and the several branches in the State are indebted to them.

The Catholic Knights of Newport have made elaborate arrangements to properly entertain the delegates while they are in that city and those who go will not regret the trip. The proceedings promise to be interesting and instructive for all members of the order. The Kentucky Irish American intends to have a good report of the proceedings in the issue following the convention.

There are thirty-five branches of the Catholic Knights in Kentucky. Those who had forwarded credentials to State Secretary Score up to Wednesday evening and the names of the delegates are:

Branch 4, William C. Smith.
Branch 5, Edward Neuhaus.
Branch 6, Charles Falk and Henry Jansen.
Branch 14, Martin Cusick.
Branch 16, John Donnelly.
Branch 18, John T. Dawson.
Branch 21, Patrick Holley.
Branch 24, Thomas P. Dignan.
Branch 25, Albert F. Martin.
Branch 27, Martin Clark.
Branch 29, E. T. Honihan.
Branch 32, Ben Speaker.
Branch 36, Joseph Hubbuck, Sr.
Branch 44, Louis Goedde.
Branch 45, Edward G. Hill.
Branch 49, John Kosler.
Branch 61, James E. Rapier.
Branch 63, F. J. Lutkenmeier.
Branch 101, H. D. Mattingly.
Branch 127, S. R. Hamilton.
Branch 129, Henry Holtrup.
Branch 132, Michael Wood.
Branch 168, Joseph Deltermann.
Branch 642, James McBride.
Branch 716, Joseph Weighaus.

Thus far there has been little talk as to who will be elected to the State offices, but it is quite likely that the Presidency will be given to Newport this year. The friends of Albert F. Martin feel confident of his election as State Secretary, as thus far he has no opposition. He is well qualified for the position and will doubtless have the votes of all the delegates from this city to start with, for he has filled almost every office in the order with signal ability. The delegates and visitors will attend mass before the opening of the convention Tuesday morning.

It is the intention of the Catholic Knights of America to give a grand excursion to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis, and several hundred Knights from various parts of the State have promised to attend. The excursion train will leave Louisville via the Henderson route on Sunday evening, September 11, at 9 o'clock, from the Seventh street depot. The round trip, including hotel accommodations at the American Hotel, opposite the Fair entrance, will be only $15. The return trip will be made on September 17, but those who desire to return home earlier may do so. This is the cheapest and best excursion yet arranged by any society in Kentucky to attend the St. Louis Fair. Of course others than Catholic Knights may participate in the low rate if they desire to do so. Tickets are now on sale at many prominent business houses. Those who desire to make a nice trip to the Fair should avail themselves of this low rate. The Committee of Arrangements for the Fair trip is holding meetings every Friday night.

The Catholic Knights of America now affords the safest and cheapest insurance of any of the fraternal organizations doing business in Kentucky, and there is no good reason why Catholic young men should not join. If they join now they will secure a rate which they can afford to pay. They will be protecting themselves and their dependent families and at the same time performing an act of charity. The Catholic Knights are on a safe basis for all time to come and there is no more danger of the order falling than there is of any first-class old line insurance company going into bankruptcy. Now is the time to join.

MADE THEIR VOWS.

Beautiful Ceremony in Convent of St. Catherine of Sienna.

The solemn rite of religious profession, according to the beautiful ceremonial of the Dominican order, took place on Friday of last week in the chapel of the temporary Convent of St. Catherine of Sienna, near Springfield, Washington county, when the vows of three novices were received by the worthy Prioress. The novices who made their profession were Sister Mary Irene Callahan, of Watertown, Mass.; Sister Mary Angela Callahan, of Louisville, and Sister Mary Augustine Sapp, of Lebanon, this State. Rev. Father P. Mahoney, O. P., presided at the ceremony, and was assisted by the Very Rev. Father Joseph Hogarty, Rev. James J. Pike and Rev. Father Matthew Stanton, O. P.

The good Dominican Sisters are now making fair progress in the erection of their new building, and it is hoped by their pupils and friends that the next profession and reception, in March or April, will take place in the finished and handsome Convent of the new St. Catherine's.

TRINITY COUNCIL

Hears Reports From Its Delegates to the Lexington Convention.

There was a large and enthusiastic meeting of members of Trinity Council, Y. M. I., on Monday night at their hall on East Gray street. Many came to congratulate James B. Kelly on his re-election as Grand President and to hear the reports of Messrs. Tom Garvey, Bob Goebel and John Sullivan, delegates to the Lexington convention. The proceedings of the Grand Council were reported in full and met with hearty approval, and all were loud in their praises of the hospitality displayed by Barry Council and the people of the Bluegrass section.

After acting upon communications and disposing of quite an amount of routine business, the Executive Committee urged all members and their friends to participate in the sunset excursion on Saturday evening, for which great preparations had been made. The best of feeling prevailed and the work of increasing the membership will again be vigorously pushed. The present administration, headed by Eugene Cooney, want to pass all former years in numbers initiated.

WILL ENTERTAIN.

Branch 4, C. K. and L. of A., Will Entertain Friends Thursday Evening.

Branch 4 of the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America will entertain their friends with a social and literary entertainment next Thursday evening at Bertrand Hall. Newton G. Rogers will deliver a short address, and Miss Bee Mullarkey and others will assist in the musical programme. Thomas Lynch, James Kenealey and Miss Mollie Burke are the committee in charge of the affair and earnestly invite all members of the order and their friends to attend. Branch 4 is making rapid increases in members and has a substantial treasury, of which John D. Rudd is the guardian. John H. Hennessy is the able President of the branch and to him in a great measure is due the major portion of its success.

HUGH M'BARRON DEAD.

Hugh McBarron, a native of Ireland, but for many years a well known and respected resident of New Albany, died Thursday morning at his home, 320 Fifth street, from the infirmities incident to old age. The deceased was eighty-three years of age, and leaves two sons, John and Andrew McBarron, and one daughter, Mrs. Peter Fongerousse, of Louisville. Rev. Father McBarron, of Evansville, and Con J. McBarron, of New Albany, are nephews. Ever since coming to New Albany he had been an earnest and devout member of Holy Trinity church, where the funeral services were conducted by Rev. Father Kenny. Hugh McBarron was an Irish gentleman of the old school, who was ready to help a friend and neighbor and many are the prayers that will be offered for the repose of his soul.

MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will meet next Wednesday and elect delegates and alternates to the State convention, which convenes in Covington, September 19. The auxiliary will give the first euchre of the season at A. O. H. Hall Wednesday evening, October 5, and are now securing a collection of handsome prizes for the event.

POPE'S VACATION.

How the Pontiff Spends His Time While the Thermometer Is High.

Takes Long Walks in the Vatican Gardens in the Mornings.

He May Buy An Automobile Made in the United States.

PLAYS HIS PIANOS FOR HOURS

The Pope at the present time is enjoying his vacation as far as it is possible to enjoy it in a city where the thermometer nearly every day has reached the 100 degree mark. In fact the vacation of Pope Pius is really only imaginary, and is only called a vacation to give the Cardinals an opportunity to escape from Rome for a few weeks. While the late Pope Leo always commenced his vacation in the beginning of July, and during that time moved from the Vatican proper into the "Casina del Pio IV.," one of the cottages in the garden of the Vatican, Pius X. has declared that as long as he can not go to Venice he prefers to stay in his ordinary apartments and take long walks every morning between 6 and 10, during which he has asked to be allowed to forget that he is Pope and be left absolutely alone.

The greater part of the afternoon he spends at the piano. He is an accomplished player and possesses two magnificent instruments presented to him by the makers. His only audience is two priests from Venice, Father Bressan and Father Piscini, whom he has known for many years and whom he has invited to visit him during his vacation. In the evening the Pope and the two fathers refreshen old memories from his beloved Venice, and it is often quite late before they retire.

The Pope has signified his intention of purchasing a motor car for use in the Vatican Gardens in place of the light carriage drawn by funeral looking horses now in use, says the New York Herald. The Secretary charged with the purchase has been instructed to get a light and perfectly noiseless car and he will, in all probability, order an American runabout with specially constructed carriage work for the comfort and convenience of His Holiness, as no automobile of European make has been found sufficiently light and silent for use in the quiet driveway of the historical old Italian gardens.

INTO NEW HOME.

Satolli Council Has Secured Club Rooms on Fourth Avenue.

Satolli Council, Y. M. I., which has had its headquarters on Second street, near Chestnut, for many years, has secured new and commodious rooms in the Wells block on Fourth avenue, between Walnut and Chestnut, which will be handsomely furnished and ready for occupancy within the next two weeks, when there will be a formal opening, to be announced later, to which the members and friends of the council will be invited.

This step on the part of Satolli Council has been contemplated for some time, but could not be carried out until the present time. The new quarters will be more central and easy of access, and the meetings will be better attended than heretofore. Satolli Council is composed of some of the most energetic Catholic men in the city, who expect to largely increase the membership during the next few months. There will be reading and reception rooms, and the young men of the central part of the city will find here a pleasant place to meet and spend their evenings. The wisdom of the change will be soon manifest, and with other friends we wish Satolli unbounded success.

The meeting Monday night was much in the nature of a reception to Harry Colgan, Will O'Connor and John Crotty, who represented Satolli so ably at Lexington. And here also, we are pleased to say, the Kentucky Irish American came in for high praise, copies being filed away as part of the records of the council.

WITH HIGH MASS.

St. Xavier's College will open the scholastic year Monday morning at 9 o'clock with high mass, which will be celebrated by the Very Rev. Louis G. Deppen, chaplain of the college. The success of St. Xavier's College has been almost phenomenal, and today it is recognized as Louisville's leading institution for the education of young men. Its graduates, Catholic and Protestant, hold important positions in all parts of the State, and its classes for the coming year promise to be the largest in its history. Much of this success is due to the efforts of the zealous and able Superior, Brother James, who is conceded to be one of the best educators of boys and young men in the United States.

BETTER CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

At the meeting of the Catholic School Department of the Catholic Educational Association of the United States recently held in St. Louis distinguished educators, both cleric and lay, discussed how best to bring about greater uniformity of standards and methods in parochial schools and to encourage the organization of parish alumni and alumnae associations. Carefully prepared papers on these subjects were read and discussed, and the delegates from the several States were urged to bring the attention of the clergy and the Bishops to the importance of improving parochial schools. The conference also viewed with satisfaction the movement in favor of the Catholic High School and the establishment of normal schools. As a means of creating a more refined social and intellectual Catholic atmosphere the conference recommended the formation of parish and diocesan alumni associations. It was brought out at this meeting that a million or more children are attending parochial schools in the United States.

The suggestions made by the Catholic Educational Association are timely. While many of the parochial schools are good, some of them are not so good. The good ones can be made better and the poor ones greatly benefited by uniformity of studies and the normal training of teachers. These teachers should not only have knowledge, but should be acquainted with the best methods of imparting information. The teaching orders in the church are making improvements in this direction in order to keep up with the times, and this is to be commended.

All the parochial schools in Louisville will open on Monday next and the attendance promises to be large. It is to be hoped the school session will be profitable for both teachers and pupils. There are about thirty parochial schools in Louisville and there is no reason to believe these schools will not be up to the standard maintained in other dioceses. The Catholic High Schools in the diocese of Louisville, and popularly known as academies and colleges, are equal to any in the country, but the parochial schools in some parishes are not up to the highest standard.

LABOR DAY AND UNIONS.

The labor organizations of Louisville and in all the principal cities in the country will celebrate Labor day on Monday next. The day is a legal holiday in many States and cities. All intelligent men the world over have come to recognize that organized labor is beneficial to both employer and employer when properly conducted and when the unions are not made the vehicle for furthering the ends of designing politicians and unscrupulous labor leaders, better known as grafters. The great mistake of some of the labor unions in Louisville as well as elsewhere throughout the country is that they have permitted unworthy men to control them at times and have meddled too much in politics. Labor unions are organized for the purpose of protecting their members—for securing better wages and shorter hours of work. Politics have no place in a labor union. The unions in Louisville which have not permitted politics to enter and who have turned down the grafters are the strongest, and this is true throughout the country.

The Kentucky Irish American is the friend of organized labor and will continue to be. Its editor, who has had much experience in this line, has always opposed strikes, except as a last resort, and he has never countenanced grafting. We wish the labor organizations well and hope they may continue to gather strength and influence in this city. This they can do if they get reliable men to lead and keep clear of politics.

We congratulate the various organizations on the strength they have recently developed in this city, and hope the turn out on Labor day may be creditable to all concerned.

A DISAGREEABLE SUBJECT.

"Throughout the Catholic press there has been running of late," says an exchange, "a note of protest against the delinquent subscriber." To which the Catholic Citizen adds:

We don't like to admit that any man who has read a Catholic paper for years has so little profited by it that he is dishonest or mean. We prefer to conceal the fact, and to turn our thoughts away from the one exception to the ninety-nine cases where it is a pleasure to deal with prompt paying and courteous subscribers.

Reader, do you ever hear any one speak disrespectfully of the priest? If you do, you at once conclude that such a person is "a bad Catholic." And reader, do you ever hear any one speak badly of the Catholic paper? If you do, in almost every case you will find that he is a delinquent subscriber, who has been dunned; or a former delinquent who has been forced to pay up his back dues.

We believe that Catholics are quite as honest towards their church papers as any other class of people. Individuals, delinquent with their church paper, are usually behind in paying their other debts. They are standing off their grocer and their butcher as well. It does no good to scold them, and prompt paying subscribers do not care to hear about them. Turn them over to the lawyers and the collection agencies.

Those who have children to send to school can read and ponder the words of the Episcopal Bishop Seymour in a recent address. He said in part: "We can not impress too strongly upon our fellow-citizens, with whom we share the responsibility of providing for the preservation of the integrity of these United States as a heritage to leave to our children, the fact that the training of the body and mind alone without considering the spirit, the seat of conscience and the moral sense, renders the subject of such partial and imperfect education more dangerous, if he be depraved and wicked, to the welfare of society and the stability of our institutions than he would be if he were left in ignorance."

The Democratic State Central Committee of Indiana has placed the management of the campaign in the nine counties comprising the Third Congressional district in the hands of Capt. Thomas Hanlon, of New Albany, and the County Chairmen will report to him. That the campaign in that district will be well managed with Capt. Hanlon in charge there is no room to doubt. If the County Chairmen and Precinct Chairmen work in harmony with him the district will give a largely increased Democratic majority.

Bishop Spalding says: "The denominational system of education is the right system. The secular system is the wrong system." Catholics are bound by the law of the church to send their children to parochial schools or other Catholic schools until they have made their first communion and are confirmed. There is no use arguing the question. The rule is in force and must be obeyed. Those who have children to send to school next week should remember this.

A monument is to be erected to that gallant Irish soldier, Thomas Francis Meagher, on the capitol grounds at Helena, Mont., by the Irish-Americans of that State. Ex-Senator Thomas H. Carter, Thos. Cruse and Thos. Powers have contributed $2,500 to the fund and several contributions of $250 have been made by Montana Irishmen.

The local police force made 733 arrests during the month of August, breaking all previous records in the history of the city. Of this large number only two were Irish and one German, their offenses being only of minor character. When it comes to observing the laws the Irish and Germans are always found on the right side.

Prince Combes in a recent interview declared that the separation of Church and State in France is at hand. French Catholics are abundantly able to support their clergy and the separation of Church and State in France will no doubt prove beneficial to the former. The sooner the separation the better it will be.

The Boston Pilot, which supported Bryan and free silver, free trade and all the other Democratic principles, is now trying to convince its readers that protection is the proper thing, and that our assimilation of the Philipinos is right and proper. The Pilot is having great difficulty in making good its case.

Mayor Grainger, who is sojourning in New York, called upon Judge Parker at Esopus this week, and assured him truthfully that his old town was almost solid for him. If all the big cities were as safe as Louisville, Judge Parker would have no trouble.

Minnesota claims the first snow. There was a slight fall last Monday at Virginia, that damaged crops, flowers and garden produce immediately surrounding the town. Many think this predicts an early fall.

Pope Pius X. has received a vote of thanks from the Western Negro Press Association, in session at Guthrie, Okla., for his expressions of sympathy for the negro race.

WELCOME DELEGATE.

Members of Lambert Young Council, Y. M. C. A., gave a hearty welcome to Dennis J. McNamara, their delegate to the Grand Council at Lexington, upon his return to Frankfort. The Evening Call of that city says Frankfort people feel highly honored by his election to the Board of Grand Directors for the Kentucky jurisdiction, composed of the States of Kentucky, Missouri and Tennessee. The Grand body made a wise selection, for they could have picked no more competent man for the honor.

AFTER NEW IDEAS.

The many friends and patrons of Miss Mary A. Goss will be pleased to learn that she will return to Louisville the latter part of this month to again engage in the exclusive making of children's garments. Miss Goss is now in the East to attend the big openings, and will return with all the latest and most fashionable ideas in children's dressmaking. She has been absent from Louisville for over a year, but her many former patrons will be glad to again serve her services.

THE YOUNGER SET.

Fountain Perry will be the scene of a gay and brilliant gathering on the evening of September 23. It will be the occasion of the first dance given by the younger set of Kentucky Division 239, G. I. A., to Division 78, B. L. of E. The committees are working faithfully to have the ball-room thronged with a happy selection of the fair sons and daughters of the older set, and hope to make this event one to be always remembered with pleasure.

ENTERTAINED HIS CLASSES.

Rev. Father Lawler, of the Dominican church, who has charge of the altar and choir boys, treated his proteges to a little luncheon at Fountain Perry Park, Wednesday afternoon. Under Father Lawler's personal instruction the boys' choir is making rapid progress, and is receiving considerable praise for their efforts at the church services.

First Question of the Woggle Bug:

Are You a Subscriber to the Kentucky Irish American?

IF NOT, YOU SHOULD BE.

WHAT I WANT.

I want to take you on my knee,
And to hear you sing to me,
And I want your arms about my neck
Just like they used to be;
And I want to hear you, too,
Laugh and cry out "Peek-a-boo,"
With sweet mischief in your eyes
Of bonny blue.

I want to see you run,
And to hear you laugh for fun,
And to see your curls a-tossing as they Used to in the sun;
Run and dance and laugh and sing,
Where the morning glories swing;
Oh, there's nothing else can please me,
Not a thing.

I want to hear your "Take"
And to see your smile awake
And chase dimples out from cover, as
The ripples on the lake
Seem to catch the vagrant sun,
And to toss it every one,
And just tinkle into laughter as they run.

I would take your hand and go
Where the lilacs used to blow,
And to where the yellow buttercups were
Blooming way down low!
And to where the peller-tail
Used to perch up on a rail,
And talk saucy as the day began to fall.

These are just the things I want,
Just to see you in each haunt
That erst knew you when the shadows of
The days grew long and gaunt—
Just to hold you to my breast
When the glow is in the west,
And to feel you snuggle softly down to rest!

Misses Anna Rose Glauber, Ida, Bertha and Genevieve Grobmeyer and Bertha West, all of Carrollton, were visitors at the World's Fair this week, where their beauty attracted marked attention. While in the Kentucky building they were the center of a throng of admirers. They are girls of the type of beauty for which Kentucky is most noted.

Denny Heffernan, the genial Deputy Sheriff, is happy these days and wears one of those imported Irish smiles that grow near Blarney Castle, all because of the pretty little maid that arrived recently and now reigns as queen of the household. Denny is now the proud father of eight children, six of whom he says will become Democratic voters.

A wedding of interest in the Bluegrass will be solemnized next Wednesday, when Miss Anna Winifred Mulcahy, daughter of Edward Mulcahy, one of the most attractive and accomplished young women of Versailles, becomes the bride of Jacob Embury, a wealthy young planter of Dallas, Texas. Mrs. Edward J. Connelly and children, Mary and Martin, returned Tuesday from a ten days' visit to the World's Fair. Mrs. Connelly visited the Pike, and declares the Irish exhibit the greatest attraction at the fair. She says its popularity now surpasses that of anything ever seen at any of the world's great exhibitions, and all visitors should spend at least two days examining the display therein. Those from Kentucky, and especially the Catholic school exhibits, also received marked attention from the thousands of visitors from all parts of the country.

One of the most delightful entertainments of the week was the reception held Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Nellie Sullivan, 1740 Southgate street, in honor of her guest, Miss Annette Noonan, of Bardonia. Those present were Misses Mary Newbeck, Bettie Morrell, Serena and Annette Noonan, Josephine McIntire, Nellie Sullivan, and Messrs. Henry Flamm, Arthur Blanford, Carl Stammel, Hermann Noonan and Mr. and Mrs. John Sullivan.

HINTS ON STYLE.

A return to black for evening wear is predicted.

Silver ornaments set with opals are among the jewelry novelties.

The vogue of fringe for skirt and waist trimming is on the increase.

A hat for travelling or for morning wear should be very severe in style.

Java linen in white and blue shades is a favored material for morning gowns.

In veillings the chiffons still lead, although certain lace veils are purchased to drape hats instead of the latter.

For the fair automobilist the newest cap is of a heavy grade of khaki, with peak of Chinese goatskin, in dark green, flecked with gold.

In self-trimmings for broadcloth and other smooth cloths pinking as well as rows of stitching and the various braids and other ornamentations will be used.

The Directorate styles are likely to be the prevailing modes for the coming winter, although it is said that the great dressmakers of Paris are not disposed to admit any such probability.

New blouses in Paris are made of alternate rows of ribbon and Russian lace. The ribbon used is only one-half the width of the colorings. These are worn with skirts the color of which match the ribbon or the lace.

The models from abroad in hats nearly all show decided, if not high crowns. Velvet is to be used, and a novelty in chenille braids is the employment of shaded effects, and black chenille bands trimmed with swinging bugles is the most marked novelty in these.

New autumn hats, or rather hats to be offered the autumn buyers, are largely of lace in black or white, or even in certain colors, the latter to match the colors of the gowns they are to be worn with. Cluny, Venise and Irish are used largely for the picturesque and large creations.

As previously mentioned, bands of fur will be used on gowns for autumn and winter wear. Already late autumn walking and carriage gowns are being offered in Paris having their coats trimmed with inch-wide bands of fur, and on certain of these coats the seams are outlined with stripes of fur.

For mourning, when a black waist is necessary, China silk is particularly good. Black lawn never looks smart for a waist, and in black this silk washes perfectly, besides which there is no other material so cool. The black waist may be absolutely plain or may be trimmed simply with black lace.

Among the richest and most expensive of the passementeries are the hand-made and in their construction gold thread, buttonhole silk and oftentimes beads are employed. Many patterns are used, of which the wheel is perhaps the favorite, and buttons covered with the handwork are used. These passementeries are the latest thing in Paris.

THE IDEAL WIFE.

The ideal wife is the woman who has convinced her husband that she is the very best woman in the world, and who goes on convincing him. An excellent way to begin is to keep telling him that he is the very best man in the world. And ten to one if he does not try to be as far as he can. Of course, he will have tiresome, trying ways; every man has; but if you want to be an ideal wife don't worry over them; let them pass; forget all about them, or else try and like them. Don't forget it is his home as well as yours, and though you may spend all your time in keeping it nice and comfortable, there will be no comfort in it if you are rushing around after your husband to remind him that he may not smoke in the parlor because of the curtains, that you do not want him to get those books down now and make a litter, that all the newspapers are tidied up on a side table, that he has left his boots on the hearthrug, and so on. Instead of worrying him, give him a good time at home. Let him feel that, however harassed he may be with his business outside, when he comes home everything is peace and quietness, happiness and jollity. If things go wrong, don't inform him of them in a rush on the doormat. If they must be told, keep them for an hour, and then see if you can't introduce them in the way of a joke. There is a funny side to everything, even to bursting water-pipes. Be depressed with trifling home worries, and you will soon communicate your trouble to your husband, who, instead of coming home knowing he is to have a good meal, with a bright, laughing companion, will begin wondering, as he nears home, what has gone wrong today.

WHITE GLOVES.

There is a nice custom in Ireland. The Sheriff presents white gloves to the Judges at court in the case there is no criminal case for trial. Now comes from one of Ireland's largest cities the following more than interesting news item:

"At the opening of the Cork Borough Sessions the Recorder was presented with white gloves. Addressing those present, he said: 'Sessions after sessions it has been my great and sincere pleasure to announce to the gentlemen who attend as grand jurors that there is nothing for them to do. I almost take the liberty of calling myself a Cork man, so proud am I of the community in which I live.'"

This is good Catholic Ireland. Never wash sunburned skin with cold

HOPKIN'S THEATRE.

The handsome vaudeville playhouse ever seen south of the Ohio will be the Hopkins' Theatre, which was formerly Music Hall on Market street. The work of remodeling the building has been going on all summer and the finishing touches are now being put on. Col. John D. Hopkins and Manager Reichman will give local theater goers the best shows ever seen in this city, having already booked nearly all the star attractions that the two leading vaudeville circuits have to offer.

FORTY HOURS.

With the solemn exposition of the Blessed Sacrament will be begun at St. Francis of Rome church Sunday morning at the high mass the forty hours' devotion for that parish. There will be solemn vespers, and Benediction of the Eucharist, and Rev. Father White will have the assistance of a number of the local clergy. The devotions will close with the high mass Tuesday morning.

VISITED NEW ALBANY.

The Rev. Father John Boersig, of St. Mary's church at Madison, Ind., has returned to his charge after a visit of several days with the family of Charles Miller, 1611 East Main street, New Albany. Father Boersig has become very popular with the people of Madison since his appointment there by the Bishop of Indianapolis.

BACK TO JEFF.

Clarence Thickstun, one of the most enterprising and popular young men of Jeffersonville, who has been holding a good position with a leading Terre Haute business house, has returned to his old home to accept a place with I. F. Whitesides. His friends and acquaintances are glad that he will be with them again.

STILL HAVE HOPES.

Officer John Dolan, who was shot by Tom Cribbins four weeks ago, is still at the City Hospital. Efforts to find the bullet which entered the fleshy part of the left thigh have proved unavailing. Though there is yet some apprehension, his friends still have hopes of his ultimate recovery.

RECOVERING.

David Garvey, who has been ill for nearly three months with rheumatism and for several weeks was thought to be in a critical condition, was able to leave this week for Knoxville, Tenn., where it is hoped he will be speedily restored to perfect health. His wife accompanied him.

MERIT SUCCESS.

John and August Oetken have purchased the grocery store at Sixth and Kentucky streets, and have furnished it with a splendid line of groceries, etc. The Oetken brothers are both hustling young business men and will no doubt receive a big patronage in their new place.

WHY THE POPE DIDN'T HAVE A TOOTH PULLED.

"I have drawn 2,000,641 teeth," said the dentist-monk of Rome recently before his death.

No charge was made and the priest worked in the open air in the garden of his monastery and used no instruments but his thumb and forefinger. Leo XIII. was one of his clients, and Pope Pius IX. said to him once:

"Dear brother, I should like very much to have a tooth pulled by you."
"Oh, Holy Father!"
"But it is impossible."
"Oh! Why?" said the monk.
"Because," returned the Pope quietly, "I have none left to pull."

HOW TO TEACH.

Older people are not so far away from childhood as they sometimes like to imagine. Often we find it easier to get near to the heart of a child if we know how near we are to him in weakness and ignorance. We can often increase our store of knowledge, as well as our good influence over a child, if we study with him some of the things which make him so enthusiastic. It is a privilege and a duty to instruct children. But it helps us wonderfully in gaining the friendship of a child if we look sometimes into his eyes when he questions us, and say: "Little one, I don't know. Perhaps we can find out together." We ought to know more than children know, but, since the number of things knowable is infinite, we can not have less to learn than children have. A good teacher is always an eager learner.

RECENT DEATHS.

John Michals, twenty-nine years old, a cooper by trade, died Monday at his home, 1960 High avenue, and was buried Wednesday morning from St. Anthony's church. He was a brother of Peter, Jacob and Henry Michals, who survive him. The deceased had been a sufferer from a complication of diseases for some time before his death.

Michael Neary, aged fifty years, was stricken with apoplexy Wednesday evening and died at the home of his niece, Mrs. John Kelly, 1807 High street. The deceased had been in his usual health and the news of his sudden death was a shock to all who knew him. His funeral took place from St. Patrick's church Friday morning, the interment being in St. Louis cemetery.

Thomas Monahan, an old resident and former Deputy Jailor, died Tuesday afternoon at his home, 723 Shelby street, New Albany, after long illness of kidney trouble. The deceased was well known and respected throughout Floyd county, and was a devout member of Holy Trinity church, where the funeral services were held Tuesday evening. Besides his aged wife he leaves two daughters.

The news of the death of John Graham, Sr., last Tuesday evening was received with expressions of regret throughout the West End, where he was well and favorably known. He resided at 420 Short street with his daughter, Miss Mamie, and three sons, William, Frank and John. The funeral took place from St. Cecilia's church Thursday morning, with solemn high mass of requiem for the repose of his soul.

Mrs. Hannah Conroy, an aged and respected member of St. Patrick's congregation, was released from earthly sufferings last Sunday. Her death followed a lingering illness, during which she bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude, and when the end came she was fortified by the last sacraments of her church and surrounded by her five children, two sons and three daughters. Her funeral took place from St. Patrick's church Tuesday morning.

The angel of death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Herp, 749 East Green street, Monday evening and took from them their beloved daughter Rosalia, who was just blooming into young womanhood with every prospect for a life of usefulness and happiness. Miss Herp had a kind and sweet disposition and was general favorite with all her friends, who feel the keenest sympathy for the bereaved parents and relatives. The funeral and burial services took place Thursday morning from St. Martin's church, and were attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends.

HOW TO ASSIST AT LOW MASS.

According to the rubrics of the missal, all assisting at low mass should kneel during the whole service except at the gospel. Custom, however, has modified the law as follows:

First—When the celebrant enters the sanctuary all should rise. They remain standing until the priest descends to the altar to begin mass, when all should kneel.

Second—They remain kneeling until the gospel. As the altar boy ascends to place the missal on the left side of the altar all should rise and remain standing during the gospel (and during the "Credo," should it be said), until the celebrant says "Dominus vobiscum."

Third—While the priest is making the announcements or preaching the people should be seated. If the gospel is read to the congregation they should stand.

Fourth—Should the "Credo" be said, the congregation genuflects with the priest in the "et incarnatus est" at the words "et homo factus est."

Fifth—After "Dominus vobiscum" all sit down and continue so till the Sanctus, when they should reverently kneel. Thus they should remain during the priest's communion, and also during the communion of the faithful, should there be any to receive.

Sixth—When the priest receives the first ablution all may sit down.

Seventh—They kneel again, however, as soon as he goes to the book.

Eighth—After the blessing all rise and stand during the last gospel, genuflecting at "Verbum caro factum est."

Ninth—When the priest descends from the altar they kneel and recite with him the prayers after mass.

Tenth—Not until the priest has retired from the sanctuary should any person leave the church or his place therein.

ONE FOR PAT.

At a certain lecture the other day the lecturer was speaking about the British empire. He said that the sun never sets on the English dominions.

An Irishman in the crowd said: "An Irishman who that is?"

Lecturer—I suppose it is because the English dominions are spread over so many parts of the world that as the sun sets in one place it rises in another.

Irishman—No, sure an' it's because Providence couldn't trust an Englishman in the dark.

COUNTRY OUTING.

The people of the Church of St. Francis of Assisi will have a country outing and lawn festival on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Plenty of amusements and refreshments of all kinds will be provided, and all who desire can spend a most pleasant evening in the country. The church is situated at the intersection of Cherokee Park and Seminary Lane and is easy of access.

SCHOOLS OPEN MONDAY.

The Catholic parochial schools will open Monday, though nothing more will be done than to enroll the pupils, who will be given opportunity to celebrate Labor day in the afternoon. These schools are now very largely attended and afford an immense saving to the State, which contributes nothing to their support.

LAST SUNSET RIDE.

Trinity Council, Y. M. I., will give the last sunset excursion of the season this evening on the steam Columbia, which will leave the foot of First street at 8:30 o'clock. There will be music, dancing, refreshments, etc. As this one is given for charity it is expected many will enjoy the delightful river ride.

MADE HERE.

Speaking of the improvements at St. Augustine's church at Manchester, N. H., the Emerald specially notes the marble altars, which were made in Kentucky. The main altar is exceedingly fine and cost $10,000. The rector, Rev. Father Joseph Chevalier, contributed $1,000 for this altar.

LAWN FETE.

Father Felten and the members of St. Augustine's colored church have prepared for a great lawn fete next Tuesday and Wednesday nights. An elaborate and original programme has been arranged for the friends of the church and pastor, who are assured an evening of real pleasure.

VISITS SISTER.

Rev. Dean Thomas J. Hayes, rector of St. Joseph's church, Bowling Green, is in New York visiting his sister, Mrs. Curtin, and other relatives. Father Hayes will be absent another week, but may spend a few days in this city while en route home.

ANOTHER NEW CONVENT.

The Lebanon Enterprise says the Nazareth Convent, near Bardonia, is to be torn down and a new one erected. The new building, it is said, will be completed some time next year.

INDISCRETION.

Every day we can read in our papers of the indiscretion of some young girl. These young girls seem to become women before they are well in their teens. Something must be wrong with their training. It is not confined to any portion, order, class or nation, but seems to be of a general character. From the lowest, born in poverty, to the highest, born in the purple of the rich, they can not be restrained from their strong, wayward way. They desire to break away from parental control as soon as possible. We are inclined to believe that the cause is the over-indulgence of parents to their children, and especially if they be daughters. They never learn obedience at home. No matter how young they may be, they will not obey their parents, and their foolish parents will not compel them. Hence the seed of disobedience and waywardness is planted in the young heart and matures as the child does, bringing trouble and trials to the child and sorrow to the parents. If every child should be made to learn what "Obedience" means, we would hear less of the foolish young girl.

The only son of the family was rather refractory, and his mother, finding gentle words of no avail, sought to reprove him by means of sterner measures. A lively chase ensued between mother and son, and the latter, as a last resource, darted under the bed, where he was safe from further pursuit. When the father arrived home and had listened to his wife's complaints he set off to punish the young hopeful. He went down upon his knees and directly lifted the valence of the bed. He was greeted with the excited query, "Hello, dad! Is she after you, too?"

Summer squash is at its best when about the size of an egg. It should be boiled whole and pared and the seeds taken out afterward.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

A large party from Longford visited Lanesboro for the purpose of presenting the address from the people of the town to the Rev. W. Murray on the occasion of his promotion from the administration of Longford to parish priest of Rathcline.

What has been called the All-Ireland championship handball tournament was decided on Sunday at the 11th court, old Market place in Lifford. The players in the final were William O'Herrilly, of Carrigrohilly and Michael O'Brien, of Fermoy, and the former won.

A new department has been added to the sphere of the educational activities of the Ursuline Convent, St. Mary's, Waterford. It will afford exceptional advantages to the young ladies who have completed the usual school course of studies by enabling them to fit themselves for the practical duties of home life.

The ecclesiastical authorities of the diocese of Waterford and Lismore, by posters and otherwise, have drawn the attention of the public to a resolution passed at the meeting of the hierarchy on June 26, 1901, against Catholics joining the royal navy until suitable arrangements are made to minister to the spiritual wants of Catholic seamen in the fleet.

The rainstorms of August have inundated large tracts of country in County Donegal, and oats, potatoes and other crops, which promised exceedingly well, have been greatly damaged. Tullylish bridge and Newmillis bridge have been carried away, and some live stock are missing. At Milfield the sudden rush of waters swamped game burrows and numbers of rabbits were drowned.

In Dublin the ceremony of unveiling the "1901" Newgate memorial, at St. Michael's Park, Green street, was performed in the presence of a large gathering of Irish Nationalists. The memorial consists of a figure of Erin six feet high, in Irish limestone, with the wolf head and broken Celtic cross at the base. The pedestal of the statue is of Irish granite, bearing medallion portraits of Lord Edward Fitzgerald and John and Henry Sheares on the front and side panels respectively.

A terrific waterpout occurred in the Buncrana district, resulting in fearful floods. Thousands of acres were under water, and cattle were caught by the floods and carried away. Never in the history of the oldest inhabitants had such floods been seen. It is feared that there will be a heavy loss of cattle, sheep, etc., which were grazing close to the river. The flood came down with fearful rapidity and the county road at Buncrana was entirely covered with water and rendered impassable.

Among the many attractive examples of Irish home and cottage industries at the Dublin Oireachtas exhibition were more charming than the rugs, embroideries, etc., from the convent of the Franciscan missionaries of Mary at Lough Glynn, County Roscommon. Though the schools under the management of the Sisters have only been open a little over six months, 130 girls are already being trained, and the results, as may be seen from the specimens of their work now on view at the Rotunda, are most promising.

A disgraceful attack was made by a number of Orange rowdies on a private excursion party at the outskirts of Loughgall. The party which numbered fifteen, the majority of whom were women and children, left Armagh in an open brake for a drive round the country. Just after passing through the village of Loughgall the excursionists, who were given no offense whatever, were set upon in the most ruffianly fashion by an Orange mob who stoned them mercilessly, following them for almost a quarter of a mile. Several of the occupants of the brake were struck with stones, and had it not been for the presence of mind of a number of the ladies in putting up their umbrellas several of them would have received nasty wounds. As it was, the umbrellas were split open with the stones. The cowardly assailants during their attack kept continuously cursing the Pope. There were no policemen visible, although the police barracks is only a short distance from the scene of the outrage.

Mother Teresa Cowley, of the Mafeking, South Africa, Convent of Mercy, has just arrived home on a visit to her native County Meath. It will be remembered that the devoted nuns of the Mercy order refused to leave the town when threatened with a siege, and notwithstanding the strong representations of Gen. Baden Powell bravely remained at their posts, and were constant in their attendance on the wounded. When the town was relieved Mother Teresa came back to England to raise funds for the rebuilding of their convent which had been wrecked. She was sent for to Windward by the late Queen, who personally decorated her with the Victoria Cross for women. Mother Teresa was also the recipient of a good sum of money from various admirers of the nuns' splendid devotion to duty, and the convent of Mafeking was rebuilt by the Imperial Government. She is now visiting Ireland for the purpose of procuring postulants for their new house at Vryburg.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Stonington, Conn., has a Hibernian cadet company of fifty members.

The Minnesota State convention will be held at Stillwater, September 13-15. Division 2 met last night. A full delegation will be sent to the State convention.

The Boston Hibernian urges a consolidation of the numerous divisions in the Roxbury and Hampden sections.

It is about time something was heard from the young men who were to organize a company of Hibernian Knights.

The coming Kentucky State convention will not only be the most important, but the largest, held for many years.

Division 3 of Worcester, Mass., thirty-five years in existence, has paid out $19,000 in sick benefits since its institution.

Division 4 of St. Paul lays claim to being the largest division in the United States. It is entitled to ten delegates in the State convention.

Harmony has been restored in Rhode Island, President Dolan's letter reinstating the suspended divisions having been received by the State officers.

Division 6 of Springfield, one of the strongest divisions in Massachusetts, is to hold a fair during the month of October. Let us have a union fair in Louisville.

Division 7 of Minneapolis closed its contest for new members by conferring the four degrees on a large class last Thursday night, the team of Division 3 doing the work.

Division 3 meets Monday night. This and the Ladies' Auxiliary are the only Hibernian bodies that meet next week. President Quinn would like to see a large attendance of members and visitors.

Montana Hibernians held their State convention at Missoula last week. In addition to the State and division officers there were twenty-four delegates representing the 1,800 members now in the order.

County President McGoeby has been making nightly visits to the ten divisions of St. Paul, exhorting them to be up and doing for the coming big initiation, which it is hoped will increase the order in Ramsey county by several hundred.

Last Sunday afternoon the members of Division 1 of Duluth turned out in full force in the parade attending the laying of the corner-stone of the new French Catholic church of St. Jean de Baptiste. Division 4 also participated in the ceremonies.

The banquet which will be tendered the National officers by the St. Paul Hibernians on September 12 will be at the Hotel Ryan, the finest and most commodious in the city. It will be an exclusively Hibernian affair, with the possible exception of a few State, county and city officials. Every present member who secures one initiation the day before will be entitled to a seat at the banquet, as will also his candidate. The indications are that the number who will receive the degrees on September 11 will go over 200.

BUCKINGHAM.

The London Belles, pronounced this season's premier burlesque show, comes next to the Buckingham Theater. For this season the company has secured a live and funny two-act musical comedy entitled "Dazzling Nancy" that is an innovation in burlesque. Among the vaudeville features of unusual interest will be the Richies in their celebrated singing and dancing act and Kenney and Hollis, popular comedians, vocalists and impersonators.

MASONIC THEATER.

"A Modern Viking" comes to the Masonic Theater next Monday for a week's engagement. It is a jolly comedy drama with a Western flavor, and has pleased large audiences wherever presented. The Masonic is giving a good class of attractions this season and should do a fine business.

A gas or gasoline stove should not be placed near a window nor in direct line of drafts.
